ABOUT ME

I discovered my love for coding in university, driven by a passion for creating. Although it began as a hobby, life as an English teacher made me realize my heart belongs to coding.

Now, transitioning full-time to front-end web development, I blend creativity with functionality. I'm an adaptable learner, passionate about crafting user interfaces that resonate. Eager for opportunities in front-end development, I bring a unique blend of creativity and technical skills to turn digital visions into reality.

PROJECTS

My Portfolio

The dynamic portfolio website showcases my skills and projects, built with React and Tailwind CSS.
